The IKEA guarantee will be effective if material or manufacturing defects are detected in the product you have purchased from IKEA stores, within the scope of the guarantee period and on the condition that it complies with the guarantee terms. In this case, the product is repaired, replaced or refunded as an in-store card where the amount corresponds to the defective part of the product as determined by IKEA, without charging you any further fees following an inspection done by our experts. IKEA will decide which of these options to apply based on an assessment.
